

In Photos: Strawberry Hill School students create gifts for Stamford seniors

December 18, 2021

Ignacio Laguarda

Strawberry Hill students (left to right) Rhea Sadhu and Bella Montagna create holiday cards to go into gift bags for Stamford seniors as part of SilverSource's "Caring Connections" program.

STAMFORD — Sixth graders at Strawberry Hill school created holiday cards to go with gift bags for the city's struggling seniors.

The school partnered with Stamford nonprofit SilverSource, which provides resources to older residents in need, to complete the gift bags as part of the organization's "Caring Connections" program.

This week, the bags were delivered to the seniors. Inside each one are essential items and some personal donations. One person donated 144 gifts of mugs and tea, while another contributed hand-knitted lap blankets, according to SilverSource. Overall, about 150 bags were assembled.